

Technical Maestros

Orchestrating Digital Innovation

Cloud Service Operations Engineer

Manages and troubleshoots cloud based Infonova services, ensuring their availability, performance, and reliability.

You are working for a cutting-edge software company that places you at the forefront of technical innovation and puts your skills center stage.

Software Architect

Designs and plans the overall structure and high-level components of the Infonova system based on client specific requirements.

Technical Writer

Creates clear and comprehensive documentation, manuals, and guides to explain the Infonova platform. They can be creative and structured on one way.

Is Technical Documentation your passion? Let's see what we've documented for this role.

Quality Engineer

Conducts testing and quality assurance activities to identify defects and ensure the software meets specified quality criteria. You apply a critical eye and attention to detail to everything you do? Then this role is just right for you!

Software Engineer

Develops, tests, and maintains the Infonova solution based on defined requirements and design specifications. They love to stick into codes :-)

Cloud Platform Engineer

Designs, implements, and manages the architecture and infrastructure of cloud platforms to support our SaaS business solution. The cloud wont never work with out them.

Quality Manager

Oversees and ensures that all processes and products meet defined quality standards and compliance requirements. Software quality is your passion, and you would like to be responsible for quality assurance from A-Z for a complex product? Is a scope for action and design important to you? Then build up our black-box testing!

Cloud Security Expert

Implements and manages security measures to protect data and systems within a cloud computing environment. Are you ready to take matters into your own hand and keep our cloud services secure?

Internships

An internship opportunity at Beyond Now provides hands-on experience and learning in various areas of our organization, fostering growth and development in the dynamic field of technology. Very important: they get their own responsibility and are treated as a full team member.
